EXAMINER'S AMENDMENT

1. An examiner's amendment to the record appears below. Should the changes and/or additions be unacceptable to applicant, an amendment may be filed as provided by 37 CFR 1.312. To ensure consideration of such an amendment, it MUST be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee.

Authorization for this examiner's amendment was given in a telephone interview with Darleen J. Stockley (Reg. No. 34,257) on July 8, 2005.

The Examiner's Amendment is attached and labeled as "Examiner's Amendment."

Reasons for Allowance

2. Claims 1, 3-5, and 7-13 are allowed.
3. The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

The closest prior art of record is Douglass et al. ("Understanding Ourselves and Others in the Team") in view of Gensing ("Don't Delay Start Today: Ten Surefire Ways to Conquer Procrastination"). Douglass in combination with Gensing address the concept of assessing a user's personality to then suggest a schedule for preparing for a given event in light of his/her personality type. However, neither Douglass nor Gensing discloses or suggests performing this functionality in combination with receiving "a request from the user for purchase of any article or any service to be supplied available in the schedule." While the concept of allowing a project planner to order articles or services needed to complete a scheduled project is old and well-known in the art, the Examiner agrees with Applicant that the cited prior art references and knowledge generally available to one of ordinary skill in the art fail to suggest combining all of the aforementioned functionality as part of a single automatic planning system; therefore, claims 1, 3-5, and 7-13 (all of which incorporate this combination of functionality) are deemed to be allowable over the prior art of record.

Any comments considered necessary by applicant must be submitted no later than the payment of the issue fee and, to avoid processing delays, should preferably accompany the issue fee. Such submissions should be clearly labeled "Comments on Statement of Reasons for Allowance."
